OFFICE OF THE PROVOST

Faculty Success Newsletter

Dear colleagues,

As President Scholz announced last Thursday, we have come to an agreement with the student demonstrators, and they removed the encampment. I want to thank you again for your resilience over the last few weeks. While the particular pressure from the protests has subsided, there continue to be resources and support available to faculty members who feel or experience tension in the workplace. For faculty managing this in the classroom, we encourage you to contact the Teaching Engagement Program to take advantage of their advice and support services during this time.

As we enter the last month of the academic year, we want to highlight some opportunities to connect with colleagues. The reestablished UO Faculty Club will pause just this week, but it will continue next week and other Thursdays from 4:00 to 6:00 p.m. at the JSMA Faculty Lounge through the end of the academic year. Additionally, we are in the process of announcing the faculty members selected for an Office of the Provost award or opportunity, and we look forward to celebrating promoted faculty on June 10 in the Redwood Auditorium.

We wish you a successful end to the academic year.

Sincerely,
Office of the Provost

Accessibility accommodations for Canvas exams

Get support to ensure AEC Accommodations are met

If you have created Canvas exams to be timed or time-limited, you may need to adjust settings for students with accessibility accommodations. The Moderating Quizzes for AEC Accommodations how-to section will guide you through the process.

Need more assistance with Canvas exam settings or grading? Walk-in support is available weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in PLC 68. You can also call 541-346-1942 or email UO Online for assistance.

Franklin Clark recently joined UO Online as an instructional technologist. His interests include generative AI, plagiarism prevention strategies and tools, learning assessment, and using Canvas tools to create engaging content. If you'd like assistance with instructional technology, contact Franklin to schedule a consultation.
